The world's first commercial operation "DMV"

The other day, I went to Tokushima Prefecture to see the DMV. DMV is an abbreviation for "Dual Mode Vehicle," and it is a vehicle that is modified from a microbus and equipped with wheels for running on tracks, and can switch modes between a train on the tracks and a bus on the road. This will be the world's first full-scale commercial operation. The Asa Kaigan Railway operates between Kaiyochi, Tokushima Prefecture and Toyocho, Kochi Prefecture, with one round trip per day to Muroto on Saturdays, Sundays, and holidays. If you are interested in trains, please come visit us.
