Introducing Iya, Tokushima Prefecture, one of Japan's three most remote areas!

A hidden place is a mysterious place that is not yet known to many people. Its unique scenery fascinates travelers. Iya is one of the three hidden places in Japan, along with Shirakawa-go in Gifu Prefecture and Shiiba Village in Miyazaki Prefecture.

Iya's Kazurabashi Bridge is a 45m long, 2m wide suspension bridge over the Iya River, made of woven Shirakuchikazura vines. You can not only view the Kazurabashi Bridge from the riverside, but also cross it, and the view from the swaying bridge is exceptional. Don't miss the unique statue of the Manneken Pis. Its adorable appearance brings a smile to the faces of tourists and creates a heartwarming moment. If you visit Shikoku, be sure to stop by Iya. You can fully enjoy the beauty of nature and the charm of the hidden place!
